If you are reading this, you are obviously interested in WRUW-FM 91.1 Cleveland in some capacity- whether your interests were spiked by an interesting show you see next to this message in our Program Guide for Fall 2012 or you heard about our 31st annual Studio-A-Rama in September. Perhaps it was also the first annual Summer Music Fest featuring local talent in polka, folk and rock.

Any way you look at it, Case Western Reserve University's college radio station brings you nearly anything you want to hear or discover. Shows like "Metal Meltdown" and "Children of the Metal Movement" bring you the best of metal, past and present; "Chasing Infinity," "Stone Cold Bikini," and "Ivy's Red Sweater" brings you the most recent independent rock and pop music from across the country; and "Not Your Mother's Tongue," "Latin Perspective" and "Radio Italia" showcase music from around the world.

WRUW also offers an amazingly strong blues, bluegrass, Americana and country show selection, ranging from "Roll Away the Dew" to "Laying Down Tracks" to "Woodchopper's Ball." If you want to hear it, there is [mostly likely] a programmer at WRUW who plays it.

Public affairs are also very much alive on 91.1. "Straight Up with DocSana" and "Regionally Speaking" frequently interviews student group leaders and experts about issues affecting the Cleveland community. "Democracy Now," which is broadcast every Monday through Thursday from 4:00p.m. to 5:00 p.m. brings you the top international news each day.

2012 marks WRUW's 45th birthday. Since 1967, we have been broadcasting on Cleveland airwaves. We have been happy to give back to the community that has shown their support so much throughout our time. This year's Studio-A-Rama featured local legends Death of Samantha and the up-and-coming Cloud Nothings, bringing old and new punk together in a one of a kind show. We held our first annual Summer Music Fest at Fairport Harbor and Museum, which showcased music from local polka, folk and bluegrass bands.

We at WRUW are very excited to bring you more music, fewer hits every semester. Although the schedule may change slightly from semester to semester, we still strive to provide the greater Cleveland community with new and old music; music from deep in our music library and the newest album from various record labels. For any music requests, please call 216-368-2208!

Sincerely,
Katy Witkowski
General Manager, WRUW-FM 91.1 Cleveland
